
ESIL Water Treatment Ltd.

Changing the way the world views water

In a highly competitive market, offering a unique and high quality product is more important than ever in drawing potential customers to your store. Add a new product to your store front and make greater use of the space you are already paying for. Our simple store front plan will not only have the ESIL system paying for itself, but will quickly produce additional revenue.

Transform your Business

Bottled water is in high demand but most varieties fall short of providing a quality product. Spring water may contain contaminants while reverse osmosis and distilled water leave no healthful minerals behind. Offer ESIL treated water to your clients and allow them to make an informed choice.

- heavy metals exist often in tap water and sometimes bottled spring water.
- Lead (a commonly occurring metal) causes brain damage in children and many other symptoms in both children and adults.

WHY is ESIL different?

Because ESIL technology uses electrolysis to remove contaminants such as arsenic, lead, pharmaceuticals and bacteria, while the naturally occurring minerals remain.
